Linda and Jim McIngvale, owners of the Westside Tennis Club in Houston, raised more than $140,000 for M. D. Anderson during events surrounding the 2006 U.S. Men's Clay Court Championships. Part of the gift came from tennis pro James Blake (left), who lost his father to stomach cancer. Blake donated $25,000 to gastric cancer research, which is under the direction of M. D. Anderson's Lee M. Ellis, M.D. (right).

*In the midst of the U.S. Tennis Association activities, M. D. Anderson's operating room nursing tennis team of Brian Jahrsdoerfer, Michel Lavoie, Peter Okpokpo and Warner Tse broke the Guinness World Record in doubles, playing for 48 hours, 15 minutes. Lifting the Burden
Making a generous gift of $2 million, Paul Beck established the Andreas Beck Inpatient Palliative Care Unit in memory of his father. Palliative care focuses on improving the quality of life for patients and their families by reducing the physical and emotional burdens of illness. It involves symptom management, supportive counseling and advanced care planning. Often services are extended not only to patients, but also to children whose parents or care-giving grandparents are cancer patients.

Naming Opportunity

Almost 200 supporters, including Gov. Rick Perry and former President George H.W. Bush, paid tribute to Peggy and Lowry Mays as M. D. Anderson celebrated the naming of the Lowry and Peggy Mays Clinic in spring 2006. Formerly the Ambulatory Clinical Building, the Mays Clinic was named to honor the couple for their generous support of M. D. Anderson through a $20 million gift to the institution's research programs. The Mays celebrated the day with their children: Kathryn, Linda, Mark and Randall.

In Her Honor

For 20 years of Polo on the Prairie and more than $3 million in support, M. D. Anderson named the Polo on the Prairie Plastic Surgery Waiting Room in honor of Mary Anne McCloud. McCloud, who has been instrumental in orchestrating each year's polo matches, cut the ribbon amid an audience of friends, family and M. D. Anderson leadership, including M. D. Anderson President John Mendelsohn, M.D. (left). An annual event, Polo on the Prairie has raised funds for various M. D. Anderson programs.

Too Cool to Smoke

With substantial support from Aileen Gordon of Houston, M. D. Anderson's "Too Cool to Smoke" program has reached nearly 10,000 elementary students. A component of M. D. Anderson's Public Education Office, the "Tobacco Awareness Puppet Program" uses an interactive puppet show with a venue of a mall food court to explain the dangers of tobacco use to students in kindergarten through fourth grade. The goal is to equip children with skills to avoid tobacco and to make healthy lifestyle choices.

A Passion for Education

The Guerra family has contributed a total of $300,000 to M. D. Anderson's Physician-Scientist Program. Guerra Brothers Successors, Ltd., contributed $100,000 in 2006 to the program, which gives working clinicians the time, financial resources, and mentoring from established researchers to develop independent, first-rate research projects. The gift reflects the Guerra family's passion for the cause of higher education as well as their ongoing support of the institution.
