MD Anderson’s Standards of Conduct

Do the Right Thing
Do the Right Thing.

It’s a short phrase with a long history at MD Anderson.

Our mission is personal, complex, and dynamic. Patients and families seek us every day to help them on their cancer journeys. And layers of laws and regulations guide every step we take.

To help you navigate this ever-shifting path while putting our patients first, my team and I created this handbook.

Health care, especially for academic research institutions like ours, is a constantly moving, highly regulated industry at all levels. From our front desk specialists to our senior faculty leaders, we must be mindful of the rights of our patients, our colleagues, and our community.

And as employees of the State of Texas, even more is expected of us. We’re required to be good stewards of state resources. We’re called on to make sound, ethical decisions. We’re asked to be on the lookout for those who wish to take our hard-earned knowledge for their personal gain. We’re warned that the technologies designed to help us can hurt us if not properly protected.

In the midst of these difficult demands, we’re driven to pursue our goals to Make Cancer History™ and stand by our core values of Caring, Integrity, and Discovery.

It’s because of these demands that my team and I are here. Each of you is an expert in your field, pursuing your work to the best of your abilities. My focus is to give you an Institutional Compliance Program that partners with you and supports your efforts.

I’m inspired by your work to serve you in ways relevant to what you’re trying to achieve. I’m humbled by your dedication to our patients to give you tools that best suit your needs. And I’m motivated to help you address the challenges you face while growing our knowledge and expertise.

I’d like you to think of this handbook as your trail guide to health care compliance in an evolving environment. But when you find you’re off the trail, please speak up. We’re here to help set your feet back on the path -- with compassion, understanding, and encouragement.

Together, we can Do the Right Thing every day.

All the best,

Max

Max Weber, J.D., M.B.A.
Vice President & Chief Compliance and Ethics Officer
Chair, Executive Institutional Compliance Committee
Building a Culture of Compliance Begins with You.
Mission
The mission of The University of Texas MD Anderson Cancer Center is to eliminate cancer in Texas, the nation, and the world through outstanding programs that integrate patient care, research and prevention, and through education for undergraduate and graduate students, trainees, professionals, employees and the public.

Vision
We shall be the premier cancer center in the world, based on the excellence of our people, our research-driven patient care and our science.

Core Values

Caring
By our words and actions we demonstrate caring toward everyone.
- We are sensitive to the concerns of our patients, their loved ones and our colleagues.
- We are respectful and courteous to each other and practice cultural humility.
- We promote and reward teamwork and inclusion.

Integrity
We work together with professionalism to merit the trust of our colleagues and those we serve in all that we do.
- We hold ourselves, and each other, accountable for our work – decisions and data – and for practicing our values and ethics.
- We advocate for diversity and equity for our workforce, for those we serve and for our community.
- We communicate frequently, honestly, openly and responsibly.

Discovery
We embrace creativity and seek new knowledge from diverse perspectives
- We encourage continuous learning, seeking out information and new ideas.
- We team with each other to identify and resolve problems.
- We seek personal growth and enable others to do so.

Safety
We provide a safe environment – physically and psychologically – for our patients, for our colleagues and for our community.
- We create a sense of security and empowerment and are committed to keeping one another free from harm.
- We embrace a framework and best practices for the highest quality of care and service.
- We inspire trust by modeling excellence in our work and acceptance of each person’s contributions.

Stewardship
We protect and preserve our institutional reputation and the precious resources – people, time, financial and environmental – entrusted to us.
- We prioritize the health and well-being of each other.
- We act responsibly to safeguard the institution’s finances.
- We ensure the proper care and use of time, data, materials, equipment and property afforded to us.

Institutional Code of Conduct

MD Anderson is committed to full compliance with all applicable laws, rules and guidelines. To such end, we are all required to conduct ourselves in accordance with the ten principles of our Institutional Code of Conduct.

Know and follow the rules
Know and follow the letter and the spirit of applicable laws, rules and guidelines, as well as UT System and MD Anderson rules, policies, procedures and compliance plans.

Think and act ethically
Follow our ethical standards and those of your professional organizations. Before you say or do something, ask yourself: How would this look to our patients and our community? Would this harm our reputation?

Keep it confidential
Handle all MD Anderson information, especially patient information, in ways that meet applicable laws, rules, guidelines and document retention schedules. Treat our information the same way you treat yours.

Commit to research integrity
Perform all research efforts in ways consistent with applicable legal, ethical and professional requirements, as well as MD Anderson rules, policies and procedures.

Avoid gifts
In general, you can’t accept or give gifts, favors, benefits, services or items of value — especially in return for preferential treatment or patient referrals.

Bill accurately
When you document and bill for the care you’ve provided, be accurate, be thorough, be honest — and be timely.

Focus on Making Cancer History®
Don’t use any MD Anderson resources, including your time and your colleagues’ time, in a wasteful manner, for personal benefit, to harm someone, for political activity or for illegal activity.

Be true to our mission: Avoid outside influences
Don’t engage in activities or enter into contracts that could or could seem to interfere with your MD Anderson work, make you disclose confidential MD Anderson information or affect your independent judgment.

Be a good colleague
Act with honesty and good faith in all matters. Don’t engage in discriminatory, harassing, retaliatory, inappropriate, intimidating or disruptive behaviors.

When in doubt, point it out
If you think or discover that someone isn’t following our Code of Conduct, promptly notify the chief compliance and ethics officer or Institutional Compliance. And always cooperate fully with all inquiries and investigations related to reported issues.

Violations of our Institutional Code of Conduct, including failure to report a breach of the Institutional Code of Conduct, may be grounds for disciplinary action up to and including termination. For information on how to report a violation of our Institutional Code of Conduct, see the Your Rights and Responsibilities section.
Other Standards and Codes of Conduct

In addition to our Institutional Code of Conduct, other Institutional Policies, standards or codes may apply to you and your activities.

• MD Anderson’s Institutional Code of Ethics
• MD Anderson’s Faculty Standards of Conduct Policy (#ACA0043)
• MD Anderson’s Principles for Scientific Research Policy (#ACA0014)
• The Board of Regents for The University of Texas System’s Standards of Conduct (Rules and Regulations of the Board of Regents, Rule 30103)
• The University of Texas System Policies and Standards - UTS134: Code of Ethics for Financial Officers and Employees (UTS134)
• Texas Standards of Conduct and Conflict of Interest Provisions (Texas Government Code § 572.051)

For information regarding additional standards or codes of conduct, see “Professional Standards” in the Resources section.
Institutional Compliance Program

Our mission
MD Anderson’s Institutional Compliance Program supports MD Anderson’s mission, vision and core values, and helps the institution fulfill its responsibilities to the people of Texas in an environment based upon ethical behavior and compliance with applicable laws, rules and guidelines.

To that end, the program’s team will:

• Provide you with the most accurate, concise, and up-to-date information and advice to assure you’re aware of your responsibilities with respect to sustaining such an environment;

• Foster an environment of open communication by educating you about your obligations to report compliance concerns;

• Protect you from retaliation if you, in good faith, report suspected wrongdoing, participate in/with an institutional investigation pertaining to alleged wrongdoing, or assist appropriate authorities in investigating possible wrongdoing; and

• Continually assess the effectiveness and quality of our program to ensure all MD Anderson business is conducted with integrity and in compliance with the law

Our team
The Institutional Compliance Program team comprises professionals in the health care compliance space who work together to addresses general compliance issues as well as issues related to research compliance, billing and reimbursement compliance, privacy compliance, ethics and conflicts of interest, and corporate compliance. In addition, the team responds to reported compliance concerns and those identified through ongoing monitoring and auditing activities.

Our program
Consistent with its commitment to excellence, MD Anderson facilitates a comprehensive compliance program that continually monitors high-risk areas and ever-changing federal and state statutes, regulations and health care program requirements.

The program was developed in response to federal guidance and The University of Texas System (UT System) standards to promote and ensure compliance with state and federal requirements. It facilitates all seven elements of an effective compliance program as identified by the U.S. Sentencing Commission and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Office of Inspector General, specifically:

• Designating a compliance officer and compliance committees;

• Developing written compliance plans, policies and standards of conduct;
• Conducting appropriate training and education;
• Developing open lines of communication, including hotlines and other forms of communication;
• Monitoring and auditing compliance risk areas;
• Responding to detected deficiencies; and
• Enforcing disciplinary standards.

Effecting the seven elements
The program consists of the Chief Compliance and Ethics Officer, the Deputy Chief Compliance Officer, the Executive Institutional Compliance Committee and other compliance committees, the Institutional Compliance team and MD Anderson’s compliance plans.

The program provides a Compliance Hotline that anyone may use to report compliance concerns on a confidential basis. Such requests may also be made on an anonymous basis.

To maintain MD Anderson’s culture of compliance and achieve its mission, our team conducts regularly scheduled and specifically requested trainings on state and federal legal and regulatory matters, as well as institutional policies, for all workforce members.

Our team also manages MD Anderson’s Handbook of Operating Procedures, which comprises all our institutional policies and their attachments.

To learn more about MD Anderson’s compliance plans, the Institutional Compliance Program and our team, visit:

- The Institutional Compliance website at www.mdanderson.org/hop
- MD Anderson’s Handbook of Operating Procedures at inside.mdanderson.org/institutionalpolicies

Conducting appropriate education and training is an essential element of an effective compliance program.

The Institutional Compliance Program team provides all workforce members with general and specialized educational courses on institutional compliance; applicable laws, regulations, rules, and guidelines; and institutional policies.

Mandatory Compliance Education and Training

New Employee Orientation Program (NEOP) provides education and institutional orientation to newly hired classified employees and administrative staff. Among other things, NEOP covers MD Anderson’s history, mission, vision and core values; select institutional policies and procedures; safety issues; and quality and service expectations.

Faculty Compliance Orientation (NFCO) provides education to new, returning and promoted faculty members on institutional compliance; applicable laws, regulations, rules and guidelines; and institutional policies.

The Employee Education Event (EEE), a mandatory, self-administered, computer-based training course covers issues of critical importance to the achievement of MD Anderson’s goals as they relate to patient care, treatment, service, accreditation, campus safety, data security and regulatory requirements.

Our Leadership Outreach program provides new leaders, including department chairs, division heads and executives, with critical information on key compliance issues and reference materials regarding selected elements of MD Anderson’s Institutional Compliance Program.

Our Billing Compliance Documentation Guidelines course provides training to billing professionals, residents and fellows regarding general evaluation and management documentation guidelines, or documentation guidelines by specialty area (e.g., Radiology, Pathology, Surgery).

Our Effort Reporting course provides Principal Investigators and Effort Coordinators information regarding compliance; applicable laws, regulations, rules and guidelines; and institutional policies on effort reporting requirements.

Other Compliance Training
Several specialized compliance courses are available in all areas of compliance. You may view the full list of course offerings on the Institutional Compliance site under “Trainings Offered.”

At MD Anderson, we’re committed to protecting the privacy of our patients and workforce members, as well as safeguarding state resources. To such end, the protection of private and confidential information is an institutional priority.

Patient information and privacy law

Our core values of Caring, Integrity and Stewardship drive our commitment to maintaining the confidentiality of protected health information (PHI).

All uses and disclosures of PHI must be made with respect and sensitivity for our patients and the law. The most sensitive aspects of a patient’s life may be documented in their medical record; this understandably makes the privacy, confidentiality and security of PHI a priority for them. It’s therefore critical that you understand your role in maintaining the confidentiality of PHI and complying with privacy laws.

Although the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) is the most recognizable privacy law, other federal and state laws also play a significant role. This means the inappropriate use or disclosure of PHI is not only a violation of institutional policy but also a violation of federal and state law. Consequences for violations may include jail time, monetary penalties and/or corrective action up to and including termination of employment.

What is PHI?

PHI is health information combined with identifying information that is created, stored or maintained by MD Anderson.

Examples include weight with an MRN; a diagnosis with a birth date; and a lab result with a phone number.

The combination of these data make them PHI.

Identifying information includes 18 types of data, the most common being:

- Name and contact information;
- Medical Record Number (MRN) and Social Security number (SSN);
- Financial account number(s), insurance, and billing or payment information;
- Treatment dates, birth date, death date;
- Voice recordings and identifiable photographs and images; and
- Any other information that can be used to identify a particular patient.

See MD Anderson’s Patient Privacy: De-Identification of Protected Health Information (PHI) Policy (#ADM1180).
Uses and disclosures of PHI

Privacy law requires that PHI be used or disclosed only when a patient has given a written authorization, or when use is permitted by law, such as for treatment, payment or health care operations. Examples of impermissible uses and disclosures of PHI include, but are not limited to:

- accessing a co-worker’s medical record to determine their diagnosis when there is no legitimate operational reason to do so;
- mailing or emailing PHI to the wrong address;
- disclosing more information to an insurance company than that needed for reimbursement;
- posting patient photos on social media sites;
- using our medical record or any other MD Anderson information system to find a friend’s contact information;
- disclosing a patient’s PHI to media outlets or anyone else without the patient’s authorization;
- using PHI in our medical record or any other MD Anderson information system for research purposes without patient authorization or Institutional Review Board approval; and
- accessing more PHI than that needed to perform a task.

Remember:

- Communicate with patients using MyChart, MD Anderson’s secure messaging portal.
- Encrypt all external email communications containing PHI; use [SEND SECURE] at the beginning of the subject line.
- Don’t send PHI to your non-MD Anderson email account (Gmail, Yahoo, Hotmail).

For assistance regarding email or encryption, contact Information Security at 713-745-9000.

Minimum Necessary Standard

When PHI is used, requested or disclosed, we must ensure that it contains only the minimum amount of information necessary to complete the intended purpose.

The Minimum Necessary Standard means determining what or who “needs to know.” In other words, for each use or disclosure made (with the exception of uses or disclosures made for treatment purposes), you must determine the smallest amount of PHI required to accomplish that purpose.

For example, if an employee needs assistance processing a patient’s financial forms, the employee may share the forms with a supervisor or co-worker. However, the employee may not email the forms to a large group with a general request for assistance. Additionally, if a document contains more information than is needed, the extra information should be removed or redacted before disclosing.

Friends and family involved in a patient’s care

HIPAA doesn’t prevent you from discussing a patient’s care with their friends and family, as long as the patient doesn’t object.
For example, a patient’s caregiver may pick up the patient’s prescription, or a nurse may speak with a caregiver about the patient’s post-surgical care. However, it’s important to limit the information disclosed to that which is relevant to the person’s role. Just because a patient’s daughter pays her medical bill does not give the daughter a right to access the patient’s entire medical record. Additionally, it’s always a good idea to ask the patient for permission before speaking about their health in front of another person.

Patient Rights
Privacy law establishes specific patient rights with regard to their PHI, including the patient's right to:

- Request a restriction on the use and disclosure of their PHI;
- Request an amendment to their designated record set;
- Request an alternative communication method;
- Inspect and copy the designated record set;
- Obtain an accounting of disclosures of PHI; and
- Obtain either a paper or electronic copy of the Joint Notice of Privacy Practices.

Social Security numbers (SSNs)

Federal and state laws, as well as UT System Information Resources Use and Security Policy (UTS165), regulate acceptable uses and disclosures of SSNs. Protecting the confidentiality of SSNs is critical to preventing identity theft and fraud. To that end, MD Anderson workforce members are required to:

- Reduce the use and collection of SSNs;
- Inform individuals when SSNs are collected;
- Reduce the public display of SSNs;
- Control access to SSNs;
- Protect SSNs with security safeguards; and
- Establish accountability for protecting the confidentiality of SSNs.

To learn more about the use or disclosure of SSNs, see the Institutional Compliance site at inside.mdanderson.org/compliance.

Business associates
Federal law requires MD Anderson to enter into a Business Associate Agreement (BAA) with any person/entity who:

1. creates, receives, maintains or transmits PHI on behalf of MD Anderson for institutional activities such as claims processing or administration, data analysis, processing, or administration, utilization review, quality assurance, patient safety, billing, benefit management, practice management and re-pricing; or

2. provides legal, actuarial, accounting, consulting, data aggregation, management, administrative, accreditation or financial services where the services involve the disclosure of PHI to the outside person/entity. For example, even contracts involving cloud service providers, recycling vendors, copy machine suppliers, or any other vendor or application service provider with potential access to PHI likely require a BAA.
MD Anderson must enter into a BAA prior to contracting with a vendor or purchasing any services from an entity/person who qualifies as a “Business Associate.”

If you need to obtain a BAA or have questions about whether a potential vendor or service is a “Business Associate,” contact MD Anderson’s Legal Services department at 713-745-6633.

Document retention
All information obtained, developed or produced by MD Anderson’s workforce members should be maintained in compliance with MD Anderson’s document retention schedule.

To learn more about document retention, see MD Anderson’s Records Management Policy (#ADM0107) or the Records Management Department site on inside.mdanderson.org.

MD Anderson’s information
Much of the information obtained, developed or produced by MD Anderson’s workforce members, as well as information supplied by outside entities for the benefit of MD Anderson, is considered confidential and/or proprietary.

This information should not be disclosed to anyone outside MD Anderson, or used for personal benefit or gain unless you have specific authorization to do so.

It is a violation of MD Anderson policy to:

• Share your user credentials (login ID and password) for any MD Anderson system, and
• Breach the confidentiality of any data contained on any MD Anderson system.

Always take reasonable steps to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of copyrighted, trademarked or licensed materials, and to safeguard MD Anderson information.

MD Anderson information, especially patient information, must be stored only in institutionally approved storage locations (MD Anderson servers and drives; MD Anderson’s OneDrive and Teams sites) or on institutionally managed and encrypted devices.

Facility information
Information related to MD Anderson’s facilities, including files or documents that describe or identify the building or room name, location, type, purpose or any negotiated contract pricing in any format are considered confidential. Such facility information must be protected from unauthorized access, use, disclosure, and/or dissemination. Specific facility information may relate to:

• Floor plans;
• Design plans;
• Schematic plans;
• Site plans;
• Building and/or room specifications; or
• Any such image.

To learn more about protecting MD Anderson’s information, see MD Anderson’s Intellectual Property Policy (#ADM0345) and the Texas Public Information Act located in Chapter 552 of the Texas Government Code.

Information collected from the public
In accordance with state law, MD Anderson workforce members must include the following notice when collecting information from the public by means of a form (either electronic or paper):

• With few exceptions, the individual is entitled on request to be informed about the information MD Anderson collects about them.
• Under Sections 552.021 and 552.023 of the Texas Government Code, the individual is entitled to receive and review the information.
• Under Section 559.004 of the Texas Government Code, the individual is entitled to have MD Anderson correct information about them that is incorrect.
Privacy, Confidentiality & Security Q&A

Question: I am a nurse at MD Anderson. A patient texted me asking for her lab results. May I text her back with the results?

Answer: No. You should communicate with patients only through MyChart (my.MDAnderson.org), which is secure. A phone call to the patient also would be appropriate.

Question: I am a nurse and I noticed that a neighbor is scheduled to have a medical procedure. May I tell her other friends so that we can all support her in her time of need?

Answer: No. Although this seems like a supportive gesture, it is important to respect your neighbor’s privacy. You should not mention to your neighbor or other friends that you’re aware of her condition. In addition, if you’re not directly involved in the patient’s care, you shouldn’t access the patient’s medical record at all. It’s a violation of MD Anderson policy and federal law to access a patient’s information without a legitimate medical or business need to do so.

Question: Am I allowed to disclose a patient’s room number to someone who asks for the patient by name?

Answer: Generally, yes. You may disclose a patient’s location and general condition (e.g., “stable”) to those who ask for a patient by name — unless the patient has requested a “confidential patient type” flag to be placed on their account. Information about confidential patients should not be disclosed to anyone but the patient.

Code of Conduct check: Keep it confidential
Handle all MD Anderson information, especially patient information, in ways that meet applicable laws, rules, guidelines and document retention schedules. Treat our information the same way you treat yours.
Research Compliance

Research is key to achieving MD Anderson’s mission to eliminate cancer and is driven by our core values of Discovery, Safety and Stewardship.

In pursuit of its mission, MD Anderson is committed to providing an institutional compliance program that works in concert with our academic research endeavors. One of the goals of the program is to ensure that all research is conducted according to the highest ethical standards and in compliance with all applicable laws, rules, guidelines and institutional policies.

To that end, it is imperative that workforce members engaged in research:

- understand the principles and laws that govern research;
- maintain a working knowledge of MD Anderson’s research-related policies and procedures;
- conduct research in compliance with the applicable laws, MD Anderson policies and procedures, and other governing documents; and
- notify the Chief Compliance and Ethics Officer of any suspected or discovered violations of research related laws, rules, guidelines, or institutional policies.

For information on clinical research billing, see the Billing and Reimbursement section.

Human Subjects Research

Human subjects research is defined as any of the following:

a. Research that involves a living individual about whom an investigator conducting research obtains:
   i. data through intervention or interaction with the individual, or
   ii. identifiable private information;

b. research that involves the use or disclosure of Protected Health Information;

c. an experiment involving one or more human subjects, in which a drug is administered or dispensed to, or used; or

d. a clinical investigation or research that involves one or more human subjects to determine the safety or effectiveness of a device.

Thus, human subjects research includes research on disease mechanisms, biomarker studies, therapeutic interventions, clinical trials, prevention studies, epidemiological and behavioral studies, tissue and data banking, outcomes research, and health services research.

The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services exercises authority over human subjects research, and MD Anderson has signed an assurance statement committing our institution to compliance with applicable regulations.
To ensure that human subjects research at MD Anderson is conducted in an ethical manner and in compliance with the law, MD Anderson has:

- established Institutional Review Boards (IRBs) to safeguard the rights and welfare of research participants;
- developed a Human Research Protection Program Manual that contains information, procedures and guidance; and
- Established and implemented mandatory human subjects protection training.

All researchers who participate in human subjects research are responsible for conducting their work in an ethical manner, and for knowing that:

- IRB approval and protocol activation are required before human subjects research activity is permitted. IRB oversight is mandatory.

- It is a violation of both federal law and MD Anderson’s policies if you:
  - conduct human subjects research without IRB approval;
  - do not adhere to an IRB-approved protocol; or
  - implement any change to an IRB approved protocol without IRB approval.

- The researcher is responsible for ensuring that individuals who are eligible to participate in human subjects research clearly understand everything that will happen to them, how their information will be used, and their financial responsibilities before they agree to participate.

- Individuals are free to choose whether or not to participate in human subjects research and must not be pressured to participate in such research.

Animal Research

MD Anderson’s Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (IACUC) is responsible for the review and approval of all research involving animals at MD Anderson. It is imperative that workforce members engaged in research involving the use of animals:

- understand the principles and laws that guide and govern the use of animals in research;
- are familiar with the requirements described in the MD Anderson Animal Care and Use Handbook for Investigators and the Guide for the Care and Use of Laboratory Animals; and
- conduct animal research in compliance with MD Anderson’s policies and procedures, federal and state laws, rules, guidelines, and ethical principles.

All researchers who participate in animal research are responsible for conducting their work in an ethical manner, and for knowing that:

- IACUC approval is required before animal research activity is permitted. IACUC oversight of animal research is mandatory.

- It is a violation of federal law and MD Anderson policies and procedures if you:
  - conduct animal research without IACUC approval;
  - do not adhere to an IACUC-approved protocol; or
  - implement any change to an IACUC-approved protocol without IACUC approval.
Recombinant DNA; Select Agents and Toxins; Biohazardous Agents
Review and approval by the Institutional Biosafety Committee (IBC) is required for use of recombinant DNA, select agents and toxins, and/or biohazardous agents in any research at MD Anderson.

Remember, if you possess, use, and/or transfer select agents and toxins without IBC approval and registration, you will:

• be in violation of institutional policy; and
• put MD Anderson at risk of violating federal laws.

Human Embryonic And Induced Pluripotent Stem Cells
The use of human embryonic and induced pluripotent stem cells for research at MD Anderson is governed by the Human Embryonic & Induced Pluripotent Stem Cell Policy (#ACA1164). The Human Embryonic & Induced Pluripotent Stem Cell Research Oversight (HEIPSCRO) Committee advises on and oversees research involving human embryonic stem cells (hESC) and human induced pluripotent stem cells (hiPSC).

Remember, if you use hESCs or hiPSCs for research without HEIPSCRO Committee approval, you will:

• be in violation of institutional policy; and
• put MD Anderson at risk of violating federal laws.
Expenditure Of Federal Research Funds
The expenditure and management of federal research funds are governed by cost principles set forth in federal regulation, in 45 C.F.R. Part 74 Appendix IX. Charging any costs directly or indirectly to the federal government, including personnel and non-personnel costs, must be done in compliance with these cost principles.

Any person who authorizes or is responsible for authorizing the expenditure of federal research funds is responsible for understanding the cost principles contained in 45 C.F.R. Part 74 Appendix IX, and for ensuring that any cost charged to a federal sponsor is allowable, allocable and reasonable.

All costs must be handled consistently across the institution, i.e., a particular cost may not be charged as a direct cost by one department and as an indirect cost by another department.

Remember: Non-compliance with the cost principles can lead to disallowance of federal grant funds, financial penalties and/or severe civil and criminal penalties.

Effort Reporting and Certification; Effort Commitment
Effort is the proportion of time spent on any activity expressed as a percentage of total institutional activities for which an individual is compensated by MD Anderson. Total effort for an employee must always equal 100 percent, regardless of part-time or full-time status, and regardless of number of hours worked.

As noted in the section on expenditure of federal research funds, the expenditure of federal money for personnel costs, e.g., salaries, wages, and fringe benefits is governed by federal cost principles in 45 C.F.R. Part 74 Appendix IX. Thus, the use of grant funds for such personnel costs is permissible only if the payments conform to the requirements in these federal cost principles.

As required by these cost principles, MD Anderson requires employees who devote effort on sponsored projects to confirm the percentage of their effort spent in support of each sponsored project and other institutional activities for a given period of time. This confirmation is called effort reporting and certification.

MD Anderson uses the online Employee Compensation Compliance (ECC) system for effort reporting and certification on a quarterly basis.

Remember:
- Accurate and timely certification of effort reports are required by:
  a. the federal government under applicable Federal cost principles; and
  b. MD Anderson’s Effort Certification Policy (#ACA0016).
- All faculty must certify their own effort.
- Effort reports for all non-faculty must be certified in accordance with institutional policy.
- Actual/certified effort percentages must be based on a reasonable estimate of work performed during the applicable reporting period.
- Effort certification must be based on first-hand knowledge of the work performed.
- Effort reports are subject to audits by the federal government and Institutional Compliance.

Important: Non-compliance with effort reporting and certification and effort commitment requirements can result in disallowance of federal grant funds, financial penalties, and criminal penalties against the individual who certifies falsified effort.

Code of Conduct check: Commit to research integrity
Perform all research efforts in ways consistent with applicable legal, ethical and professional requirements, as well as MD Anderson rules, policies and procedures.
Research Misconduct
The Institutional Research Integrity Officer handles research misconduct allegations and reports findings involving Public Health Service (PHS) funds to the Office of Research Integrity (ORI).

Research misconduct is fabrication, falsification or plagiarism in proposing, performing or reviewing research or in reporting research results. Honest errors or differences of opinion are not considered research misconduct. Penalties, up to and including termination of employment, are determined by the President of MD Anderson. The ORI may impose additional penalties such as debarment from eligibility for federal funds for grants and contracts, prohibition from service on PHS advisory or peer review committees, submission of a correction, or retraction of a published article.

Conflicts of Interest
MD Anderson is committed to conducting research that is unbiased and in compliance with federal and state laws, rules, and guidelines, as well as institutional policies regarding conflicts of interest.

PHS regulations require that all research funded under PHS grants or cooperative agreements be free from bias resulting from an investigator’s financial conflicts of interest (FCOI). An investigator is defined as the project director or principal investigator and any other person who is responsible for the design, conduct or reporting of research funded by the PHS. These regulations define FCOI as a significant financial interest that could directly and significantly affect the design, conduct or reporting of PHS-funded research. MD Anderson is required to submit FCOI reports to the PHS, manage investigator FCOI prior to expending any funds under the affected PHS-funded research project, and ensure public accessibility of FCOI held by senior/key personnel on a PHS-funded research project.

Food & Drug Administration (FDA) regulations require that clinical investigators certify the absence or disclosure of certain financial relationships to sponsors of FDA-regulated trials. This information is used by the FDA to assess the reliability of clinical trial data.

Institutional policy requires all investigators, faculty members, faculty supervisors, trainees and institutional decision makers to disclose specified financial relationships to the institution. These disclosure requirements are based on and, in certain cases, may be more strict than those in the PHS and FDA federal regulations.

Remember:
- All investigators, faculty members, faculty supervisors, trainees and institutional decision makers must keep all required disclosures of financial relationships current.
- Non-compliance with the conflicts of interest regulations can result in disallowance of federal research funds and civil and criminal penalties.

If you have a fraud-and-abuse-related concern or question, contact Institutional Compliance at 713-745-6636 or the Compliance Hotline at 1-800-789-4448.

Code of Conduct check:
Avoid outside influences
Don’t engage in activities or enter into contracts that could or could seem to interfere with your MD Anderson work, make you disclose confidential MD Anderson information or affect your independent judgment.

Question: Sanya, a research nurse at MD Anderson, is responsible for coordinating, evaluating, and following patient participation in a clinical trial of Drug X, funded by Drugs Unlimited. Because Sanya has many years of nursing experience with cancer patients, Drugs Unlimited wants to hire Sanya: (a) as a consultant for planning future clinical trials involving patients receiving chemotherapy; and (b) to audit ongoing Drug X clinical trials at two other sites. All the consulting work will be done outside of Sanya’s normal work hours at MD Anderson, and Sanya thinks she has accrued just enough paid time off to perform the audits. What should Sanya do?

Answer: Sanya should follow the steps outlined in MD Anderson’s Conflict of Interest and Conflict of Commitment Policy (#ADM0255) before she agrees to perform, or performs, any consulting or audit work for Drugs Unlimited.

Question: Dr. Smith is a principal investigator on a research project funded by a federal grant. What actions must she and her team take to accurately certify the percent effort that they’ve spent on the project?

Answer: PIs and faculty members must certify actual effort worked by themselves and their supporting individuals – regardless of committed effort or the source of funds used to pay their salary. Dr. Smith and each of her team members must maintain documentation of their effort on the project. Each quarter, they must individually confirm that their percent effort is an accurate representation of actual effort, and then Dr. Smith must certify allocation of her effort and that of her team members.
Documentation Requirements

Documentation of medical records, business records and billing practices at MD Anderson should be consistent with MD Anderson’s core values of Caring, Integrity and Stewardship. Documentation and billing that are accurate, complete and timely help MD Anderson demonstrate its commitment to high-quality patient care in a manner that maintains the valued trust of our patients and our colleagues.

To that end, MD Anderson has developed policies and procedures regarding documentation and billing practices that are consistent with our core values and comply with applicable federal and state laws and private payor requirements. Among other things, MD Anderson’s policies and procedures require that all medical records and business records be accurate, complete and contain no false information. In addition, these policies and procedures require each patient’s billing claim to completely and accurately reflect the health care services provided, as documented in the medical record. Examples of unacceptable billing practices include, but are not limited to:

- billing for items or services that were not medically necessary,
- billing for items or services rendered without the appropriate supervision,
- always assigning the same level of service regardless of the level of care provided,
- unbundling procedure codes,
- submitting duplicate bills, and
- filing false or inaccurate cost reports.

Note: The Civil False Claims Act prohibits us from knowingly presenting a false or fraudulent claim for payment or approval. “Knowingly” includes actual knowledge, deliberate ignorance of the truth or falsity of the information, or reckless disregard of the truth or falsity of the information — and it requires no proof of specific intent to defraud. The penalties may include three times the overpayment plus $11,463 to $23,331 for each item or service presented for payment.

If you believe a documentation or billing practice is inconsistent with MD Anderson’s documentation and billing policies and procedures, discuss the issue with your immediate supervisor. If you do not feel comfortable discussing the issue with your immediate supervisor, you may discuss the issue with upper-level management. Call Institutional Compliance at 713-745-6636 or the Compliance Hotline at 1-800-789-4448.
Remember, improper documentation or billing practices may be considered fraudulent activities resulting in corrective action for those committing such behaviors. Corrective actions also may be imposed against individuals who have knowledge of improper documentation or billing practices and who remain silent or fail to report such behavior.

To learn more about documentation and billing practices, see MD Anderson’s:

Clinical Research Billing

It is the policy of MD Anderson that research-related items and services provided to human subjects research participants are accurately billed in compliance with all relevant laws, rules and guidelines, as well as the relevant study protocol and informed consent document.

Billing for services provided to human subjects research participants can be very complex as both the sponsor and the participant may be responsible for various costs of a study. Any time a sponsor provides funding for items and services, such items and services may not be billed to the human subjects research participant or the participant’s insurance carrier. Knowingly submitting bills to patients or payors for items and services paid for by the sponsor constitutes fraud and may result in criminal and civil penalties under federal and state law. MD Anderson workforce members involved in human subjects research are responsible for ensuring that:

- clinical-research–related billing is based on actual services rendered, allowable by law, and is consistent with the informed consent document signed by the human subjects research participant; and
- clinical-research–related charges are billed to the appropriate party.

To learn more about clinical research billing, see MD Anderson’s:

- Billing Compliance Plan
- Clinical Research Billing Policy (#ADM1047)
- Study Calendar & Coverage Determination Policy for Clinical Trials (#ADM1138)

For other policies relevant to appropriate documentation and billing, see MD Anderson’s Handbook of Operating Procedures at inside.mdanderson.org/institutionalpolicies.

Billing & Reimbursement Compliance

Question: Can I use the teaching physician addendum when providing services with a fellow who has an unrestricted medical license in an unapproved training program?

Answer: No. Fellows with an unrestricted medical license in an unapproved program aren’t considered a “fellow or resident” for Medicare purposes. Instead, they’re viewed as another physician fully capable of rendering and billing the service themselves. Therefore, the attending physician should document and bill for their own service without the use of a teaching physician addendum. Fellows with an unrestricted medical license in an unapproved program may document and bill for their own service. Please also refer to the Fellow and Resident Supervision In Patient Care Delivery Policy (#CLN0620).

Question: What are the most common errors that lead to denials, recoupments or refunds?

Answer: Common errors that may impact payment include:

- No documentation for services billed.
- Admitting a patient to the wrong care setting/status (e.g., inpatient admissions that don’t meet medical necessity criteria or the two-midnight rule, and inappropriate admissions to "observation.")
- Always assigning the same level of service regardless of the level of care provided.
- Failing to have appropriate orders signed.
- Billing the wrong type of service (e.g., providers of the same specialty billing multiple "initial" inpatient encounters for the same patient.)
- No chief complaint documented.
- Incorrect use of modifiers.
- Billing for related evaluation and management services that are part of a global fee as separate professional fees.
- Unbundling and/or billing for services that are not permitted to be separately billed (e.g., billing for an IV start when an infusion code also is billed.)
- Incorrect use of modifiers.
- Billing the patient or payor for items or services that should be paid by a study sponsor.
- Billing for teaching physician services when the teaching physician was not present for the key or critical portion of a procedure.

Code of Conduct check:
Bill accurately

When you document and bill for the care you’ve provided, be accurate, be thorough, be honest — and be timely.
Question: My department chair has encouraged me to always bill for services at a high level of service, regardless of the individual circumstances. I feel like this is improper. I don’t want to do something that is wrong, but I’m afraid I may lose my job if I don’t do what I’ve been told to do. What should I do?

Answer: First, consider discussing the request with your chair to make sure you understand the facts and that they're aware of your concerns. If you feel that you cannot comfortably discuss the request with your chair, contact Institutional Compliance. Don’t take part in any improper or illegal activity. Please also refer to MD Anderson’s Non-Retaliation Policy (#ADM0254) for additional information regarding protections against retaliation.

Question: My supervisor told me to bill a patient’s insurer for health care services we provided and not to bill the patient for the co-pay and deductible amounts. What should I do?

Answer: Contact Institutional Compliance. Medicare and most private payors require MD Anderson to collect a patient’s co-pay(s) and deductible amount(s) when billing the insurer for services. Waivers of co-pays and deductibles could result in liability under federal and state laws.

Question: I noticed that a patient’s record does not include all the procedures performed on the patient. I asked my co-worker about the discrepancy, and they said that this type of thing happens all the time and to ignore it. Should I ignore the errors?

Answer: No. You should notify your supervisor of the situation immediately. Medical record documentation should accurately reflect all services provided to the patient.
MD Anderson is committed to using its resources in ways that best further its mission and strategic vision as set by the citizens of the State of Texas.

As a state institute of higher education, MD Anderson’s resources, including workforce member time, are considered public resources that are subject to special laws, rules and guidelines.

In this regard, MD Anderson workforce members may not use MD Anderson resources, including time, funds, equipment or other resources:

• in a wasteful manner,
• for personal benefit or gain,
• to harm another person,
• for political activity, or
• for illegal activity, such as bribes or kickbacks.

Limited use of public resources for personal purposes, such as telephone calls and emails, is permitted under the following circumstances:

• The use does not result in a cost to MD Anderson
• The use does not interfere with official duties
• The use is brief in duration
• The use does not disrupt or distract from the conduct of official business
• The use does not compromise the security or integrity of MD Anderson information

For more information on use of state resources, see MD Anderson’s Use of State-Owned Property, Equipment, Services, Funds, and Resources Policy (#ADM0340).
Non-Solicitation
Solicitation includes the sale, lease, rental or offer for sale, lease, rental of any property, product, merchandise, publication or service, whether for immediate or future delivery; an oral statement or the distribution or display of printed material, merchandise, or products that is designed to encourage the purchase, use, or rental of any property, product, merchandise, publication or service; the receipt of or request for any gift or contribution; or the request to support or oppose or to vote for or against a candidate, issue, or proposition appearing on the ballot at any election held pursuant to state or federal law or local ordinances.

This includes, but is not limited to: any oral or written communication (electronic or hard copy) that advocates or requests a contribution of money, time, effort, in-kind goods (e.g., coats for the homeless, books for literacy programs), personal involvement of a workforce member or offers any item or service for auction and includes charitable fundraising by workforce members.

MD Anderson policy permits only:

- solicitation for activities sponsored by MD Anderson or for which MD Anderson is a beneficiary; and
- distribution of materials or information that are part of the business-related communications of MD Anderson.

These provisions were established to protect workforce members from unauthorized solicitations and receiving unauthorized material, and to ensure that our work environment is consistent with our mission.

For more information on non-solicitation, see MD Anderson’s Charitable Activities, Charitable Expenditures, and Solicitation Policy (#ADM0115).

Political Activities
MD Anderson recognizes the right of its workforce members to participate in political activities on their own time, as long as such political activities do not:

- involve the use of state resources or the workforce member’s official position,
- interfere with the performance of the workforce member’s duties and responsibilities related to UT System and MD Anderson, or
- involve UT System or MD Anderson in politics.

Political Contributions
MD Anderson workforce members may make political contributions from their personal funds.

Political contributions from any source of MD Anderson funds are strictly prohibited.

For more information on political activities and contributions, see MD Anderson’s Political Activity Policy (#ADM0262) and Memberships Policy (#ADM0134).

Code of Conduct check: Focus on Making Cancer History®
Don’t use any MD Anderson resources, including your time and your colleagues’ time, in a wasteful manner, for personal benefit, to harm someone, for political activity or for illegal activity.
Use of MD Anderson Resources Q&A

Question: I sell cosmetics in my spare time. I process order requests using my computer at work. Does this present any problems?

Answer: Yes, this activity is problematic. A state employee may not use state resources, which include state time or property, to conduct a personal business. You also may not use state property during your lunch break or after work hours to conduct a personal business. See MD Anderson’s Use of State-Owned Property, Equipment, Services, Funds, and Resources Policy (#ADM0340).

Question: My daughter is selling Girl Scout Cookies, and my co-workers have expressed an interest in purchasing a number of boxes. Is it acceptable to sell the cookies during my work hours or to leave sign-up/order sheets in the break room?

Answer: No. MD Anderson strives to protect employees and non-employees from unauthorized solicitations. To that end, MD Anderson’s Charitable Activities, Charitable Expenditures, and Solicitation Policy (#ADM0115) prohibits the sale of products to raise funds for organizations or activities not authorized by MD Anderson (e.g., Girl Scout Cookies).

Question: May I use the copy machine to copy flyers for my child’s birthday party?

Answer: No. Making copies of flyers for your child’s birthday party is not considered an incidental use.

Question: An employee I supervise wants to attend a three-day conference in Washington, D.C., that includes a day of “lobbying.” She will go to the U.S. Capitol and speak to legislators about cancer rights. How do I manage this?

Answer: MD Anderson workforce members may participate in political activities on their own time. However, MD Anderson employees may not use state time, money, equipment or any resource for political purposes. Therefore, any time spent lobbying may not be paid for or reimbursed by MD Anderson. If the employee is attending the conference for work-related purposes, then two days may be treated as work days, but the lobbying day must be allocated as paid time off or annual leave. Likewise, MD Anderson cannot pay for any expenses related to political activities. Additionally, the employee may need to notify the Texas Office of State-Federal Relations (OSFR) in advance of traveling to the Washington, D.C., area. Remember, as state employees we owe a duty to the State of Texas. It makes no difference whether someone is lobbying for cancer rights or for a particular candidate; these activities cannot be related to his/her job at MD Anderson. For more information, see MD Anderson’s Political Activity Policy (#ADM0262).

Code of Conduct check:
Think and act ethically
Follow our ethical standards and those of your professional organizations. Before you say or do something, ask yourself: How would this look to our patients and our community? Would this harm our reputation?

Code of Conduct check:
Avoid gifts
In general, you can’t accept or give gifts, favors, benefits, services or items of value — especially in return for preferential treatment or patient referrals.
Gifts

Our ability to recruit patients from or refer patients to other providers should align with our core values of Integrity. Similarly, our interactions with vendors should align with our core value of Stewardship. This means gifts must not be a factor in recruiting or referring patients, or in interacting with vendors.

Gifts to Patients

MD Anderson workforce members should refrain from giving any gifts, gratuities or other items of value (collectively referred to as “gifts”) to patients. The offering of gifts to patients could be a violation of federal and state laws. MD Anderson workforce members may not transfer gifts of cash or cash equivalents to such patients.

Note: The Civil Monetary Penalties Law contains various prohibitions, including: offering remuneration to a Medicare or Medicaid beneficiary that the person knows or should know is likely to influence the beneficiary to obtain items or services billed to Medicare or Medicaid from a particular provider. "Remuneration" includes giving items or services for free. As of 2017, the penalty may include up to $15,270 for each item or service and three times the amount claimed for each item or service (or three times the amount of the remuneration). This figure may be adjusted annually; contact Institutional Compliance for details.

Gifts and Patient Referrals

MD Anderson workforce members must refrain from engaging in giving any gifts, gratuities or other items of value to anyone in exchange for patient referrals to MD Anderson. Referrals from any physician or other health care professional are acceptable as long as such referral is not in exchange for a gift or a kickback of any kind.

Further, workforce members must not accept gifts, gratuities or other items of value from anyone, including vendors, in exchange for patient referrals to that individual or vendor.

In addition, gifts, gratuities or other items of value, including payments or non-cash benefits, given to physicians, health care professionals or others providing services to MD Anderson must comply with all federal and state regulations.

Under no circumstances may MD Anderson workforce members accept gifts, gratuities or other items of value from anyone, including vendors, in exchange for patient referrals.

Note: The federal anti-kickback statute provides that it is a crime to knowingly and willfully solicit, receive, offer, or pay remuneration of any kind (e.g., money, goods, services) for the referral of an individual to another for the purpose of supplying items or services that are covered by a federal health care program; or for purchasing, leasing, ordering or arranging for any good, facility, service or item that is covered by a federal health care program, unless the arrangement meets a “safe harbor” or is determined to be permissible after an analysis. The penalty may include the imposition of a fine of up to $25,000, imprisonment of up to five years, or both. Contact Institutional Compliance for details.

Gifts to Workforce Members

Workforce members should never accept a gift of any value, especially from vendors, if they have any reason to believe it was given to influence them in the discharge of their official duties (e.g., purchasing decisions or use of state assets).

State law allows workforce members to accept non-cash gifts of de minimis value from patients, their friends or family members unless the workforce member has any reason to believe that the gift is being offered to influence them or their decisions (e.g., influence care or secure preferential treatment). Cash gifts to faculty members from patients, their friends or family members are governed by the PRS Bylaws.

Cash or cash equivalents (e.g., gift certificates, gift cards, vouchers) from any vendor or third party who is doing or interested in doing business with MD Anderson are prohibited.

To learn more about gifts, see MD Anderson’s Ethics for State Employees Policy (#ADM0337).
Gifts Q&A

Question: One of our department’s existing vendors sent gift cards for every employee in our office. Are we allowed to accept the gift card?

Answer: No. In general, non-cash gifts valued at less than $50 may be accepted unless the employee has any reason to believe that the gift is being offered to influence the employee or the decisions the employee makes. Cash or cash equivalents (e.g., gift certificates, gift cards, vouchers) should not be accepted from any vendor or third party who is doing or is interested in doing business with MD Anderson.

Question: A pharmaceutical company’s representative who services my department would like to sponsor a holiday lunch for the department. Is this okay?

Answer: No. Meals or other types of food directly funded or provided by medical service representatives are prohibited. Food for non-educational events such as faculty meetings must not be accepted under any circumstances. See MD Anderson’s Funding for Non-CME Conferences and/or Meetings Policy (#ADM1020).

Question: To get more patients to come to our department, we would like to raffle an iPad. Is this okay?

Answer: No. It is against federal and state law to offer gifts or free services to a patient in order to get the patient’s business. In addition, there are special rules regarding raffles in the State of Texas. For more information, contact MD Anderson’s Legal Services department at 713-745-6633.
Working for the State

As an institution of The University of Texas System, MD Anderson is considered a state institution of higher education. As such, our workforce members are considered public servants and are subject to certain state ethics laws that regulate their behavior and actions of state employees.

Conflicts of Interest

Strict adherence to conflicts of interest prohibitions allows MD Anderson to honor its core values of Integrity. A conflict of interest exists when the loyalty of an MD Anderson workforce member is divided between responsibilities to MD Anderson and responsibilities to an outside party. State laws and institutional policies govern conflicts of interest issues. MD Anderson workforce members should review the appropriate policy in cases of possible conflicts of interest.

In general, workforce members should not:

- accept outside employment, temporary or regular, that actually or potentially results in any conflict of interest with or interferes with their responsibilities to MD Anderson;
- accept or solicit any gift, favor or service that might reasonably tend to, or is being offered with the intent to, influence them in the performance of their MD Anderson duties;
- accept outside employment or engage in a business or professional activity that might reasonably require or induce them to disclose confidential information acquired in the performance of their MD Anderson duties;
- accept outside employment or compensation that could reasonably impair their independence of judgment in the performance of their MD Anderson duties;
- make personal investments that could create an unmanageable conflict between their private interests and the interests of MD Anderson; or
- intentionally or knowingly solicit, accept or agree to accept any benefit for having exercised their official powers or performed their official duties in favor of another.

For more information on conflicts of interest, see MD Anderson’s Conflict of Interest and Conflict of Commitment Policy (#ADM0255) and Conflict of Interest Policy for Faculty Members, Trainees, Faculty Supervisors, Institutional Decision Makers, and Investigators of The University of Texas MD Anderson Cancer Center (#ACA0001).

Bribery

As state employees, MD Anderson workforce members may not intentionally or knowingly offer, confer or agree to confer on another; or solicit, accept or agree to accept from another:

- any benefit — no matter how large or small — as consideration for the recipient’s decision, recommendation, vote or other exercise of discretion as a public servant; or
- any benefit as consideration for a violation of a duty imposed by law on a public servant.

For more information on bribery issues, see MD Anderson’s Ethics for State Employees Policy (#ADM0337) and Conflict of Interest and Conflict of Commitment Policy (#ADM0255).

Honoraria

An MD Anderson workforce member may not solicit, accept or agree to accept honoraria in consideration for services that they would not have been requested to provide but for their official MD Anderson position or duties.

A useful way to analyze whether acceptance of honoraria is permissible is to ask, “Would my services be as useful or desirable if I did not hold a position with MD Anderson?”

In certain circumstances, an MD Anderson workforce member may accept honoraria given as compensation for providing a service for which they have specific expertise. But if such honoraria is funded by a pharmaceutical company or health care services or equipment vendor, additional laws and rules related to anti-kickback may apply.

Honoraria and fees for faculty members are governed by Physicians Referral Service (PRS) Bylaws, MD Anderson’s Faculty Extramural Leave Policy (#ACA0051) and MD Anderson’s Conflict of Interest Policy for Faculty Members, Trainees, Faculty Supervisors, Institutional Decision Makers, and Investigators of The University of Texas MD Anderson Cancer Center (#ACA0001).

To learn more about honoraria, see MD Anderson’s Ethics for State Employees Policy (#ADM0337).

Endowments
MD Anderson workforce members are expected to abide by MD Anderson’s Endowment Compliance Plan.

MD Anderson’s Associate Vice President and Controller is responsible for directing Endowment Compliance education programs, which focus on adherence to UT System Policies and Standards - UTS138: Gift Acceptance Procedures (UTS138) associated with the establishment of endowments. These education programs also ensure that the terms of the Official Endowment Agreement are strictly followed.

The authority to accept donations to UT System is vested in the Board of Regents. Individual MD Anderson workforce members are not authorized to accept donations on behalf of the institution. When a workforce member has been approached about a proposed donation, the workforce member should notify the Office of the Chief Financial Officer or the Development Office. The Chief Financial Officer will arrange for proper reporting to the Board of Regents, and the donor will be sent an acceptance letter from the appropriate institutional official. All terms and restrictions placed on any gift or donation by a donor must be agreed to and accepted by the Board of Regents before the gift can be accepted.

To learn more about endowments, see MD Anderson’s Endowment Compliance Plan.

Abuse of Position
An MD Anderson workforce member commits an offense if, with the intent to obtain a benefit or with the intent to harm or defraud another, the employee intentionally or knowingly:

a. violates a law relating to the employee’s position; or

b. misuses state resources (e.g., MD Anderson property, services, personnel, or any other thing of value belonging to MD Anderson).

To learn more about abuse of position, see MD Anderson’s Ethics for State Employees Policy (#ADM0337) and Use of State-Owned Property, Equipment, Services, Funds, and Resources Policy (#ADM0340).
Work Environment

MD Anderson is committed to creating a caring and healthy environment for everyone – including all workforce members. To that end, our workforce members are expected to treat each other in a fair and respectful manner in accordance with our core values of Caring, Integrity and Safety, and to uphold all federal and state laws, rules and guidelines.

Behavior That Undermines a Culture of Safety

Safety, quality of patient care and research, and the retention of our most valuable resource – our people – are dependent on MD Anderson’s ability to foster teamwork, maintain open lines of communication and cultivate a positive, collaborative work environment.

Behavior that undermines a culture of safety is unprofessional and unacceptable at MD Anderson. Such behaviors create an unhealthy or even hostile work environment, as well as:

- undermine team effectiveness;
- increase medical errors and/or preventable, adverse outcomes;
- contribute to poor patient satisfaction;
- add to the cost of care; and
- cause qualified employees to seek new positions in more professional environments.

Behavior that undermines a culture of safety sometimes goes unreported and therefore unaddressed. Workforce members may be hesitant to report such behaviors because they:

- are uncertain if the behavior would be considered disruptive behavior;
- fear retaliation or are uncomfortable reporting on a colleague; or
- are unaware of how to report.

How to Report

For threats of violence, immediately contact The University of Texas Police at Houston (UTP-H) at 713-792-2890.

MD Anderson does not tolerate intimidating or disruptive behaviors, and managers are expected to ensure that such behaviors are reported and addressed without delay.

Workforce members also have a duty to report intimidating or disruptive behaviors. Reports should be made through any of the following methods. All reports are treated confidentially and may be made on an anonymous basis:

- Your immediate supervisor, who can enlist the help of leaders and Human Resources representatives to address the issue.
- The Incident Reporting Tool, accessible from computer desktops or our intranet.
- 5-myHR (713-745-6947).
- 2-STOP (713-792-7867).
- Compliance Hotline (1-800-789-4448).

Non-Retaliation Policy

MD Anderson workforce members are required to report misconduct, including instances of intimidating or disruptive behaviors. MD Anderson’s Non-Retaliation Policy (#ADM0254) prohibits any individual from retaliating or taking adverse action against a workforce member who has reported misconduct, or reported intimidating and/or disruptive behaviors. Any workforce member who believes that they have been subjected to any retaliation related to reporting intimidating and/or disruptive behaviors should file a complaint with MD Anderson’s Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) team for investigation.
Examples of Behavior That Undermines a Culture of Safety Behaviors that undermine a culture of safety include, but are not limited to:

- overt actions, such as verbal outbursts and physical threats;
- passive activities, such as not performing assigned tasks or quietly exhibiting uncooperative attitudes during routine activities;
- reluctance or refusal to answer questions, return phone calls or return pages;
- condescending language or voice intonation;
- impatience with questions or discussions; and
- retaliation against those who report intimidating and/or disruptive behaviors.

Sexual Harassment and Sexual Misconduct
MD Anderson is committed to the principle that our work environment should be free from inappropriate conduct of a sexual nature. Sexual misconduct and sexual harassment are unprofessional behaviors. Any MD Anderson workforce member who engages in such behavior is subject to corrective action, up to and including termination of employment.

For more information, see MD Anderson’s Sexual Misconduct Prevention Policy (#ADM0285).

Corrective Action
All workforce members are responsible for educating themselves with performance criteria for their particular jobs (e.g., rules, procedures and standards of conduct established by the institution and their departments) and maintaining standards of conduct suitable and acceptable for the work environment. A workforce member who does not fulfill the responsibilities set out by such performance criteria may be subject to corrective action, up to and including termination of employment. Any sanctions will be applied in accordance with relevant MD Anderson personnel policies.

For more information, see MD Anderson’s Corrective Action Policy (#ADM0256).

If you have any questions regarding the MD Anderson work environment, please contact your Human Resources (HR) Business Partner; call 5-myHR (713-745-6947) for assistance.

Equal Employment Opportunities
It is MD Anderson’s policy to provide equal employment opportunity (EEO) without regard to:

- race;
- color;
- religion;
- sex;
- sexual orientation;
- gender identity/expression;
- national origin;
- age;
- disability;
- veteran status;
- genetic information;
- any other basis protected by institutional policy or by federal, state, or local laws (unless such distinction is required by law).

Such EEO protections apply to all matters related to employee hiring or status, including but not limited to:

- advertising;
- recruitment;
- selection;
- employment;
- placement;
- compensation;
- benefits;
- upgrading;
- training;
- transfer;
- promotion;
- demotion;
- realignment; and/or
- termination.

Further, it is the policy of MD Anderson to provide a work environment free from verbal, physical, or visual forms of discrimination or harassment.

For more information, see MD Anderson’s Equal Employment Opportunity Policy (#ADM0284).

Code of Conduct check:
Be a good colleague
Act with honesty and good faith in all matters. Don’t engage in discriminatory, harassing, retaliatory, inappropriate, intimidating or disruptive behaviors.
In addition, to ensure compliance with the Equal Employment Opportunity Policy, MD Anderson has established the following specific policies:

- Affirmative Action Policy (#ADM0287)
- Accommodating Disabilities in the Workplace Policy (#ADM0286).
- Sexual Misconduct Prevention Policy (#ADM0285)
- Nursing Peer Review Program Policy (#CLN0632)

Fitness for Duty and Drug Free Workplace

It is the policy of MD Anderson that all workforce members report to work in a condition to safely perform their duties. When at work, every workforce member must be free of illegal drugs or alcohol and able to safely and effectively perform the essential functions of their position.

MD Anderson prohibits the use of alcohol or a controlled substance — as well as its unlawful manufacture, sale, distribution or possession — in or on premises or property owned or controlled by MD Anderson, regardless of whether such activity results in the imposition of a penalty under a criminal statute. Individuals who violate these policies are subject to appropriate corrective action including, but not limited to, mandatory referral into the Employee Assistance Program for treatment in an approved drug assistance or rehabilitation program, and/or termination of employment.

Stop the Line for Patient Safety

Any workforce member who observes or becomes aware of a potential risk to patient safety has the authority and responsibility to speak up and request the process be stopped in order to clarify the patient safety situation (i.e., Stop The Line).

If a workforce member believes that they have been subjected to any retaliation related to a Stop The Line request, they should report such suspected retaliation so that it may be investigated in accordance with MD Anderson’s Non-Retaliation Policy (#ADM0254). To learn more about Stop The Line, including examples of what situations may prompt a Stop The Line request, see MD Anderson’s Stop The Line for Patient Safety Policy (#CLN1185).

- Nursing Peer Review Program Policy (#CLN0632)
Question: A co-worker has vacation pictures on her desk that are somewhat provocative. If I am uncomfortable with these pictures, can she be made to remove them?

Answer: Maybe. Consider bringing the matter to your co-worker's supervisor or contact your HR Business Partner; call 5-myHR (713-745-6947) for assistance.

Question: My supervisor has repeatedly asked me out on dates. I'm not interested in dating him and this is making me very uncomfortable. What can I do?

Answer: Consider informing your supervisor that this behavior makes you uncomfortable. However, if you prefer not to discuss the subject with your supervisor, contact your HR Business Partner; call 5-myHR (713-745-6947) for assistance.

Question: I have repeatedly spoken with my supervisor about the rude and impatient way an employee from another department speaks to me and others in my department. To date, I have seen no change in that employee's behavior. Where can I go to report this behavior outside of my supervisor?

Answer: First speak with the other employee’s supervisor about your concerns. If you're uncomfortable going directly to another employee’s supervisor, consider talking to your supervisor or HR Business Partner to ask for assistance in bringing this issue to the attention of others.
Your Rights and Responsibilities

Compliance Concerns

It's every workforce member's responsibility to report a violation or a potential violation. Remaining silent and failing to report a violation or potential violation may subject a workforce member to disciplinary action.

To discuss or report compliance concerns, MD Anderson workforce members are encouraged to directly contact the Chief Compliance Officer via the page operator at 713-792-7090, or through Institutional Compliance at 713-745-6636.

Additionally, MD Anderson has established a hotline for workforce members to report suspected violations or questionable conduct:

The Compliance Hotline, 1-800-789-4448.

All discussions and reports to the hotline are treated confidentially and may be made anonymously. Each report is reviewed, and the Chief Compliance Officer initiates any needed investigations, corrections or follow-up.

Individuals also may report suspected fraud, waste and abuse involving state resources to the State Auditor's Office (SAO) Hotline at 1-800-TX-AUDIT (1-800-892-8348). The SAO provides additional information on its website, www.sao.fraud.state.tx.us.

Governmental Investigations

MD Anderson cooperates with governmental investigations. To that end, Institutional Compliance will assist all workforce members with taking the appropriate steps to cooperate with such governmental investigations.

It's imperative that workforce members immediately — even after hours — notify the Chief Compliance Officer or Institutional Compliance if approached by a person who has identified themselves as a governmental investigator.

Illegal/Unethical Activities

MD Anderson is committed to maintaining an ethical culture that is consistent with its mission, vision, and core values. To that end, MD Anderson upholds a “zero tolerance” policy toward any illegal or unethical activity, or knowing, intentional or willing non-compliance. MD Anderson will not accept a workforce member's claim that improper conduct occurred for the benefit of MD Anderson. Any such conduct is not for the benefit of MD Anderson and is expressly prohibited.

Compliance issues can be complex, and identifying a suspected violation is not always easy. Here's a checklist to help:

- Does the action comply with the Institutional Code of Conduct?
- Does the action violate state or federal law?
- How would the action look to your family, friends, patients or the community if published on the front page of the paper?

Non-Retaliation

MD Anderson encourages, and in some cases requires, its workforce members to report any perceived misconduct, including actual or potential violations.

It's understandable that some workforce members may be hesitant to report any suspected violations out of fear of retaliation. MD Anderson has established a non-retaliation policy to encourage workforce members to report any perceived misconduct.

For more information, see MD Anderson’s Non-Retaliation Policy (#ADM0254).
Your Rights and Responsibilities Q&A

Question: How do I contact the Chief Compliance Officer?

Answer: By calling 713-745-6636 or via the page operator at 713-792-7090.

Question: How can I report a compliance concern?

Answer: You can:

- Talk to your supervisor.
- Call Institutional Compliance at 713-745-6636.
- Page the Chief Compliance Officer at 713-792-7090.
- Call the Compliance Hotline at 1-800-789-4448.

Question: I received a letter from the FBI that demands access to MD Anderson patient records and confidential information. What should I do?

Answer: Immediately call the Chief Compliance Officer and take no action until the Chief Compliance Officer or designee is able to assist.

Institutional Code of Conduct

MD Anderson is committed to full compliance with all applicable laws, rules and guidelines.

To such end, we are all required to conduct ourselves in accordance with the ten principles of our Institutional Code of Conduct.

Know and follow the rules
Know and follow the letter and the spirit of applicable laws, rules and guidelines, as well as UT System and MD Anderson rules, policies, procedures and compliance plans.

Think and act ethically
Follow our ethical standards and those of your professional organizations. Before you say or do something, ask yourself: How would this look to our patients and our community? Would this harm our reputation?

Keep it confidential
Handle all MD Anderson information, especially patient information, in ways that meet applicable laws, rules, guidelines and document retention schedules. Treat our information the same way you treat yours.

Commit to research integrity
Perform all research efforts in ways consistent with applicable legal, ethical and professional requirements, as well as MD Anderson rules, policies and procedures.

Avoid gifts
In general, you can’t accept or give gifts, favors, benefits, services or items of value — especially in return for preferential treatment or patient referrals.

Bill accurately
When you document and bill for the care you’ve provided, be accurate, be thorough, be honest — and be timely.

Focus on Making Cancer History®
Don’t use any MD Anderson resources, including your time and your colleagues’ time, in a wasteful manner, for personal benefit, to harm someone, for political activity or for illegal activity.

Be true to our mission
Avoid outside influences: Don’t engage in activities or enter into contracts that could or could seem to interfere with your MD Anderson work, make you disclose confidential MD Anderson information or affect your independent judgment.

Be a good colleague
Act with honesty and good faith in all matters. Don’t engage in discriminatory, harassing, retaliatory, inappropriate, intimidating or disruptive behaviors.

When in doubt, point it out
If you think or discover that someone isn’t following our Code of Conduct, promptly notify the chief compliance and ethics officer or the Institutional Compliance Office. And always cooperate fully with all inquiries and investigations related to reported issues.
