

Sarah Folsom, MM, MT-BC

Neurologic Music Therapist, Integrative Medicine Center

Sarah Folsom is a Board-Certified Music Therapist, a member of the American Music Therapy Association and a trained Neurologic Music Therapist with the Robert F. Unkefer Academy of Neurologic Music Therapy. Sarah holds a Bachelor of Music in Voice Performance from New York University and a Master of Music Therapy from Colorado State University. Sarah assess and treats patients using music therapy interventions grounded in evidence-based practice. In addition to the medical oncology setting, Sarah has provided music therapy services in diverse settings, including for children and adults with special needs, individuals with traumatic brain injury, pediatric patients on palliative care and intensive care units, as well as in skilled nursing facilities. As part of the Integrative Medicine team, Sarah works with those affected by cancer in to address symptoms related to their cancer journey – whether in outpatient or inpatient clinical settings, individually or in groups