

Yalda Soha, DC, DACM, L.Ac, DiplOM (NCCAOM)

Acupuncturist, Integrative Medicine Center

Yalda Soha joined our team at the Integrative Medicine Center in August 2021 from Arizona. She attended Southern California University of Health Sciences (SCUHS) where she obtained a Doctor of Chiropractic degree and a Master of Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine Degree. She continued to pursue a Doctor of Acupuncture and Chinese Medicine degree from the Pacific College of Health and Science in San Diego, CA. She has completed extensive clinical internships at the SCUHS Health Center and its satellite clinics at Mount San Antonio College and California State University, Fullerton. She had the opportunity to participate in an externship at Chang-Gung Memorial Hospital in Taipei, Taiwan. Dr. Soha was in private practice in Orange, CA where she integrated both chiropractic medicine and traditional Chinese medicine to better assist the needs of her patients. She then moved to Goodyear, Arizona to work at Cancer Treatment Centers of America (CTCA) as a member of their integrative oncology rehabilitation team. While employed at CTCA she utilized her skill sets to provide individualized treatments to patients who struggled with side effects of chemotherapy, radiation therapy, medication use, and other health challenges to improve their quality of life. Dr. Soha is board certified by the National Board of Chiropractic Examiners and the National Certification Commission for Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine.
