

Christin A. Brehm, PT, DPT

Senior Physical Therapist, Integrative Medicine Center

Christin Brehm is a Senior Physical Therapist in the Integrative Medicine Center at the University of Texas MD Anderson Cancer Center. She received her Doctor of Physical Therapy from the University of Texas Medical Branch in 2016. Christin has been a licensed Doctor of Physical Therapy for over 6 years, and has experience treating patients in the orthopedic, neurologic, geriatric, and oncology settings in both outpatient and inpatient. In her time at MD Anderson, she has worked on the inpatient rehabilitation team, working with patients on the stem cell floor, internal medicine floor, inpatient rehabilitation floor, neurological floor, and post-surgical floors. She transitioned to the Integrative Medicine Center to focus on her professional interests, including exercise counseling, quality improvement, lifestyle modification programs, and increasing patient's exercise literacy. In addition to her 1-on-1 physical therapy duties, she is an instructor for the IM Healthy and IM FIT programs offered through the Integrative Medicine Center. Outside of work, Christin enjoys spending time with her husband, family, and friends. She enjoys participating in church activities with her husband, playing tennis, reading, and writing.